

How Do Universities View The IB Diploma Programme?

Universities around the globe recognize the International Baccalaureate (IB) Diploma Programme for excelling in preparing students for successful university educational experiences and for life in a global society. In addition to some views on IB offered by admissions professionals from Michigan and highly selective universities immediately below, in this document you will find information on:

- How to investigate IB credit, standing, and scholarship opportunities offered by hundreds of universities worldwide
- IB related information on Michigan's public universities
- Information on the 14 US states that have legislated policies on how their public universities will recognize IB students' achievements

What Admissions Directors are saying:

Brown University, Panetha Ott, Admissions Officer

"I don't think there is anyone who does not respect the I.B."

Duke University, Christoph Guttentag, Director of Undergraduate Admissions

"One of the advantages of an IB curriculum is its structure and quality. It is a coordinated program, well established, well known and well respected. We know the quality of IB courses, and we think the IB curriculum is terrific."

Harvard University, Marilyn McGrath Lewis, Asst. Dean of Admissions

"Success in an IB program correlates well with success at Harvard. We are always pleased to see the credentials of the IB Diploma Program on the transcript." GPA is not nearly as important a factor in university admission as the IB Diploma. If a student has to choose, choose the Diploma over protecting the GPA."

Michigan State University, Pamela Horne, Assistant to the Provost for Enrollment and Director of Admissions

"My eyes light up when I see 'International Baccalaureate Diploma Programme' on a transcript. Students who apply to Michigan State University with IB credentials are assumed to be mature, curious, and creative. They have proven to be successful in a rigorous program that is both broad and deep in its content and intellectual challenge. On campus, IB graduates move with ease in a diverse and global university that demands intercultural skill and adaptability. The challenge of completing an IB diploma means that a student has engaged in the kind of rigorous work that is likely to help them become not just an outstanding college student and citizen of the world, but an exceptional one."

Oakland University

Oakland University values the International Baccalaureate Diploma Programme and its engaging and challenging curriculum that encourages critical thinking, intercultural understanding and respect.

University of Michigan, Cliff Sjogren, former Director of Admissions

“A transcript that reveals a student’s enrollment in International Baccalaureate courses serves notice to the admissions officer that the applicant is someone who accepts rather than avoids educational challenges. Further, a successful IB student will enroll at Michigan with some advantages over students who have taken less intensive programs...Unquestionably, a school that graduates each year a number of students with IB diplomas has demonstrated its commitment to high educational standards and that commitment will serve to influence admissions decisions at the University of Michigan.”

University of Michigan, Joseph Gore, Admissions Counselor

“We definitely take note of the IB Diploma in the admissions process at Michigan! Feel free to quote me on that!”

Virginia Tech, Dr. Eugene Carson

“... IB students who attended that university (Virginia Tech) as freshmen significantly outperformed all other freshmen, including students who had taken Advanced Placement courses.”

IB credit and standing policies of hundreds of colleges and universities:

The link below provides policy summaries for universities and colleges within a specific country and state. IB recognition is spreading and improving, and these policies are periodically updated, so be sure to check directly with the university under consideration

<http://www.ibo.org/recognition/university/index.cfm>

Important Note:

As mentioned earlier, university policies are changing as more and more IB students are having great success after leaving high school. Even if a published IB credit and standing policy excludes credit for SL courses, many universities do grant credit for these classes. Be sure to ask! Remember, too that universities offer placement exams which are often free and whose results can lead to credit as well.

States with Legislated IB Policies and Guidelines for Their Public Universities

California: The International Baccalaureate Organization awards either a diploma or a certificate for individual IB exams. Students who complete the IB diploma with a score of 30 or above will receive 30 quarter (20 semester) units toward their UC degree. Students who receive IB certificates with scores of 5, 6 or 7 on Higher Level exams will receive 8 quarter (5.3 semester) units.

Designated examinations may be considered equivalent to UC freshman-level courses in the subject and may be used to satisfy general education or breadth requirements.

Students or counselors should contact individual campuses for more information on how subject credit may be granted.

The units granted for IB exams are not counted toward the maximum number of credits required for declaration of a major or the maximum number of units a student may accumulate prior to graduation. Students who enter the UC with IB credit do not have to declare a major earlier than other students, nor are they required to graduate earlier.

Colorado: House Bill 03-1108 requires the Colorado commission on higher education to ensure that 4-year public institutions of higher education adopt and implement policies for the acceptance of first-time freshman students who have successfully completed an International Baccalaureate Diploma Program. This Bill also requires governing board institutions to set the number of credits granted to a student who has completed the program and to identify the general education or elective requirements satisfied. The Bill specifies that no fewer than 24 credit hours shall be granted to students who have successfully completed the IB diploma with exam scores of 4 or higher; less than 24 credits shall be granted accordingly by students with exam scores of less than 4 as part of their IB diploma program.

Students may be awarded a maximum of 30 semester credit hours earned via the International Baccalaureate program. Public school students in Florida are exempt from the payment of any fees associated with the administration of the examinations regardless of whether they achieve a passing score.

Georgia: In recognition of the fact that a strong predictor of college success is a rigorous high school curriculum, USG institutions will award academic credit for appropriate courses in the USG core curriculum for corresponding subject areas in a completed International Baccalaureate (“IB”) Diploma Program in which the student obtained designated end of course assessment scores.

Both Standard Level (college preparatory) and Higher Level (college comparable) courses will be considered for credit in a completed Diploma Program, as the program does not allow students to take all Higher Level courses. Higher Level end-of-course assessment scores of four or more and Standard Level scores of five or better suggest that the IB Program work is comparable to a college course.

The course credit schema will be used system-wide, with allowances made for variable credits in each category to account for labs, and on occasion, for depth of material covered in the IB Program subject area that may be comparable to more than one college level course. The particular courses for which students receive college credit may vary from institution to institution, depending on what courses the institution offers. Determinations of course comparability will be made by the respective departments. Institutions shall, however, attempt to have consistency across the USG on common numbered core courses.

The total college course credits awarded for IB assessments may not exceed 24. All institutions shall have a widely disseminated policy governing the award of course credits for IB assessments. The policy will apply to both resident and non-resident students.
